

Get up to $400 cashback*

When you chill out in front of a PeakSmart air-con.

It pays to be smart when you're buying a new air-conditioner.

PeakSmart is a new way to reward eligible households and businesses that help reduce electricity usage during peak periods.

It's as simple as connecting an additional device (signal receiver) to your air-conditioner during the installation. This device will be activated on a few days a year during high energy demand. When activated, your air-conditioner's energy consumption will be capped for a short period, similar to economy mode. The best part is you won't have to do anything and won't notice a difference to your comfort.

How to apply...

- 1. Buy a PeakSmart air-conditioner
Most major brands are PeakSmart enabled.
A complete list is available at energex.com.au/peaksmart
- 2. Get a signal receiver
Ask your retailer or installer to supply you with a signal receiver.
- 3. Install
Have your air-conditioner and signal receiver installed at the same time. Make sure your installer completes the Installation Form enclosed in the signal receiver pack.
- 4. Apply for your reward
Go to energex.com.au/peaksmart.
Have your Installation Form, air-conditioner receipt and bank details ready when you apply.
- 5. Receive your reward
Once approved, your reward will be deposited into your nominated bank account by Electronic Funds Transfer (EFT) within 28 days.
